Course Requirements and Assignments

Test Instructions

Three tests will be administered and a final exam. Tests will consist of objective questions, essay questions, and listing questions. If a student misses a test, no make-up will be given. However, the lowest unit test grade will be dropped. Students will need to take the test online on a laptop/desktop computer and using a strong internet connection (wifi or landline).

Quizzes

Students will need to take the quizzes online on a laptop/desktop computer using a strong internet connection (WIFI or landline). The lowest quiz will be dropped. There are no make-up quizzes.

Discussions

There are 3 discussions on the assignment schedule. Discussions require a minimum of 2 days to complete. On day one, a substantial original post, addressing the ethical theory, will be added to the discussion stream. One response can be added the day of your own post and the second response will need to be added the next day. Or, both responses can be added to the discussion on the second day. Regardless, all three posts need to be completed by the due date. Discussions will be evaluated based on knowledge of the ethical theory, grammar, and adherence to the assignment instructions.

Core Application

The Core Application is a major grade. It must be typed, properly formatted according the instructions given, well edited, and based on the original analysis of the student in line with college anti-plagiarism standards listed below. An electronic copy must be uploaded into Canvas on or before the due date. An assignment not uploaded to Canvas will not receive full credit since it does not have an originality report. An originality report that indicates plagiarism will receive a grade of 0.

Deadline Policy: No late work is accepted. Instead, the lowest assignment grade is dropped and the lowest unit test is dropped.

Online Course Information

In an online course at Criswell College:

1. Instructors and all students enrolled in that course meet using video-conferencing technology at scheduled class times through the course of a semester or term in order to meet 25–30% of the direct faculty instruction required by the college's Credit Hour policy.
2. The remaining direct faculty instruction is delivered using other means such as:
  - Lectures/instruction for students to watch asynchronously
  - Online content modules in which instructor provides feedback to student work
  - Tests/quizzes on which instructor provides feedback
  - Discussion boards on which instructor provides feedback

Canvas: Criswell College uses Canvas as its web-based learning tool to host/deliver all instructional materials, discussions, assessments, files, and other peripheral tools and applications that support teaching and learning. In online courses at Criswell College, instructors design and use Canvas to:

- organize course content on a module basis using organizational tools within Canvas,
- control the timing of course requirements through module control or assignment due dates to ensure that students are engaged for the full length of the semester or term,
- accept assignments from students only inside the Canvas course (emailed assignments are not acceptable),
- provide written feedback on assignments only within Canvas, preferably through Speedgrader,
- use the Announcement or e-mail feature in Canvas to communicate to the students rather than by broadcasting to a class email listserv outside of Canvas.

Zoom in Canvas is used for all synchronous class sessions.

Students needing assistance with Canvas should contact the Canvas Help Support line at (844) 358-6140. Tech support is available at this number, twenty-four hours a day.

Identity Verification and Evidence of Attendance: Students are responsible for enrolling in courses for which they anticipate being able to participate weekly during the weeks appearing on course schedules, and then making every effort to do so. In online courses at Criswell College, a student participates in class or otherwise engages in an academically related activity. These activities comprise items relevant to Identity Verification for Distance Education Courses. Acceptable evidence of attendance at an academically related activity in an Online course includes, for example, a student's:

- participation in a synchronous remote video class session with the instructor present,
- student picture id submitted in the Canvas Account Profile,
- submission of an academic assignment, quiz, or exam,
- participation in an interactive tutorial or computer-assisted instruction,
- participation in an online study group or discussion board that is assigned by the instructor,
- documentation showing that the student and a faculty member corresponded about the academic subject studied in the course.

Course/Classroom Policies and Information

Technology Requirements:

- Students must be able to access the Internet and a printer for various purposes related to the course. Students will need to use a word processing program for all written assignments, and they must have a TJC student email account.

Deadline Policy: No late work is accepted. Instead, the lowest assignment grade is dropped and the lowest unit test is dropped.

Honesty Policy:

Philosophy Committee Plagiarism Statement

Original student thinking is the cornerstone of any philosophy course. Academic Honesty Policy must be followed. Additionally, the course of action in philosophy courses is that a first act of plagiarism receives a zero for the assignment. A subsequent act of plagiarism by the student will not only result in an F for the semester grade, but also will be reported to the Dean of Students.

Expected Classroom Etiquette

If you attend this class or a portion of this class on-campus then class etiquette dictates that you will:

1. Attend class each time the class meets.
2. Be on time for class and remain for the entire period. You are inconsiderate of your classmates if you arrive late and leave early.
3. Refrain from talking while the professor is lecturing. Idle chattering and giggling are disruptive to the class and disrespectful to your professor and your classmates.
4. Without prior approval from your professor, do not use cell-phones, computers, or any other electronic devices in class.
5. Be attentive and participate in class.

Supplemental Policy on Academic Honesty

- Students are expected to do their own work. Plagiarism, cheating, or academic dishonesty in any form will not be tolerated and will result in a student receiving a zero for the assignment, quiz, or exam and possibly being dropped from or receiving a failing grade for the course.
- Policy mandates that subsequent violations of the Academic Honesty Policy by a student will result in the student receiving an F for the course at the end of the semester.
- Each student may be required by an individual department to complete a Student Information and Contract Form, thus signifying an understanding of and an agreement to abide by all course policies, including the Supplemental Policy on Academic Honesty.
- Students are responsible for reading and adhering to the policies regarding academic dishonesty as stipulated below.

Academic dishonesty includes but is not limited to the following:

- Word-for-word plagiarism occurs when a source is copied word-for-word but does not properly use quotation marks. A failure to quote properly material taken from a source, even if correctly cited, is academically dishonest.
- Paraphrased plagiarism occurs when a source is used but selected words and phrases are changed to make the writing appear original. Paraphrased source material that is not properly cited is academically dishonest.
- Incorrect citation occurs when material from a source is not properly or incompletely cited. Incorrectly cited material is academically dishonest.
- Appropriation of another's ideas occurs when a writer uses someone else's ideas but fails to give proper credit to the original source. Ideas, just like any other information, must be properly cited, and a failure to do so is academically dishonest.
- Internet sources must be properly used and cited. To copy information from an Internet source and paste it into a paper is plagiarism. Purchasing a paper from an online service is also academically dishonest.
- Unauthorized collaboration or sharing of material constitutes academic dishonesty. Most college assignments require independent work that reflects individual effort. Sharing or in any way using work that is not entirely one's own constitutes academic dishonesty. Presenting a paper or an assignment as one's own that has been to any degree written by another is academically dishonest.
- Unauthorized access to any form of informational support from any electronic device, such as cell phones, laptops or iPads, or from "cheat sheets" or any other illicit assistance for any course assignment, quiz, and/or exam is academically dishonest.

Academic dishonesty in any form constitutes a very serious academic offense involving ethical and legal issues about improper use of materials. Plagiarism is nothing less than outright theft. The academic integrity of Tyler Junior College is seriously challenged when a student engages in plagiarism or in any academically dishonest behavior. Furthermore, any form of academic dishonesty is irrespective of the intent of the student.

Once again, plagiarism, cheating, or academic dishonesty in any form will not be tolerated and will result in a student receiving a zero for the assignment, quiz, or exam and possibly being dropped from or receiving a failing grade for the class. Policy mandates that subsequent violations of the Academic Honesty Policy by a student will result in the student receiving an F for the course at the end of the semester.

If a student wishes to dispute the charge of academic dishonesty, he or she must first discuss it with the professor. If a resolution is not reached, the student may appeal to the department chair.

Attendance

Students are responsible for enrolling in courses for which they anticipate being able to participate weekly during the weeks appearing on course schedules, and then making every effort to do so. Such participation may include the following: completing quizzes or exams; emailing faculty or class members as part of an assignment; discussion board posting or response; turning in an assignment; or other communication reflecting ongoing learning in the course. When unavoidable situations result in non-participation, students are responsible for acquiring any information missed. Instructors are not obliged to allow students to make up missed work. Per their independent discretion, individual instructors may determine how participation affects students' ability to meet course learning objectives and whether participation affects course grades.

Incomplete Grades

Students requesting a grade of Incomplete (I) must understand that incomplete grades may be given only upon approval of the faculty member involved. An "I" may be assigned only when a student is currently passing a course and in situations involving extended illness, serious injury, death in the family, or employment or government reassignment, not student neglect.

Students are responsible for contacting their instructors prior to the end of the semester, plus filing the appropriate completed and approved academic request form with the Registrar's Office. The "I" must be removed (by completing the remaining course requirements) no later than 60 calendar days after the close of the term or semester in which the grade was awarded, or the "I" will become an "F."

Academic Honesty

Absolute truth is an essential belief and basis of behavior for those who believe in a God who cannot lie and forbids falsehood. Academic honesty is the application of the principle of truth in the classroom setting. Academic honesty includes the basic premise that all work submitted by students must be their own and any ideas derived or copied from elsewhere must be carefully documented.

Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to:

- cheating of any kind,
- submitting, without proper approval, work originally prepared by the student for another course,
- plagiarism, which is the submitting of work prepared by someone else as if it were his own, and
- failing to credit sources properly in written work.

Institutional Assessment

Material submitted by students in this course may be used for assessment of the college's academic programs. Since programmatic and institutional assessment is done without reference to specific students, the results of these assessments have no effect on a student's course grade or academic standing at the college. Before submitting a student's work for this type of assessment, the course instructor redacts the work to remove anything that identifies the student.

Institutional Email Policy

All official college email communications to students enrolled in this course will be sent exclusively to students' institutional email accounts. Students are expected to check their student email accounts regularly and to respond in an appropriate and timely manner to all communications from faculty and administrative departments.

Students are permitted to setup automatic forwarding of emails from their student email accounts to one or more personal email accounts. The student is responsible to setup and maintain email forwarding without assistance from college staff. If a student chooses to use this forwarding option, he/she will continue to be responsible for responding appropriately to all communications from faculty and administrative departments of the college. Criswell College bears no responsibility for the use of emails that have been forwarded from student email accounts to other email accounts.

Disabilities

Criswell College recognizes and supports the standards set forth in Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, and similar state laws, which are designed to eliminate discrimination against qualified individuals with disabilities. Criswell College is committed to making reasonable accommodations for qualifying students, faculty, and employees with disabilities as required by applicable laws. For more information, please contact the Student Services Office.

Intellectual Property Rights

Unless otherwise specifically instructed in writing by the instructor, students must neither materially nor digitally reproduce materials from any course offered by Criswell College for or with the significant possibility of distribution.
