Course Requirements and Assignments

- Weekly Ethical Discussions (50 points total): Developing a strong sense of ethical intelligence is about regularly considering real life circumstances and then grappling with legal and ethical issues as well as personal perspectives. Students will be presented with real life ethical conflicts of various situations and be expected to formulate thoughtful, coherent responses to these discussions. Students will be expected to come to class having completed all required readings as well as demonstrate an engaged thoughtful examination and exploration of the key ethical and legal issues. Each week students will be graded on their participation in and contribution to the discussion and earn up to 5 points per discussion. Failure to engage in the discussion in a meaningful way or missing class will result in a loss of points for that week. Given the course calendar, there are built in 2 extra days to accommodate an absence or 'off' week.
- Ethical Discussion Papers (50 points each): Students will be provided 3 formal case studies for individual response. These responses need to incorporate thoughtful discussion, presentation, and reference to applicable legal standards and ethical codes which apply to the case discussion. Students should explore all aspects of the case as it can be viewed from both an ethical and legal perspective and then arrive at their own decision point regarding one's best action. Justification for why the student believes this to be the best legal and ethical choice should be well developed and supported with both ethical codes as well as personal integrity points.
- Exams (100 points each): There will be 3 exams over the course of the semester which will be a combination of multiple choice, matching, short answer, and discussion questions. Given that much of ethical discussions result in 'it depends', students will be expected to formulate meaningful discussion on discussion questions to justify aspect of legal and ethical application. Students grades on discussion questions will depend on completeness of response and incorporation of key points of the discussion question. Each exam will be taken online through Canvas and students will be permitted to use any course materials when taking a quiz, but there will be a time limit of 120 minutes to complete each exam. Thus, students should appropriately study and prepare for each quiz in order to complete it in the allotted time. Each exam will lock at the 120 minute mark and the completed work will be graded at that point. Exams must be completed by 11:59pm on the assigned due date. No late exams will be graded without prior approval from the instructor. There will not be a face to face meeting the week of an assigned exam.
- Research Paper (100 points): Students will choose an area of ethics applicable to the field of mental health to explore in this paper. The paper should be 8-10 pages in written length (not including title, abstract, and reference pages which are in addition to written length). Papers must incorporate a minimum of 8 professional references published within the last 10 years which reflect current ethical considerations in the field. The two required readings for this course can be used as references for this paper, but the additional references should be professional publications in refereed journals in order to adequately reflect current ethical thoughts regarding the applicable topics. Papers should fully explore the chosen area, its appropriate legal and ethical points, consider/contrast multiple perspectives regarding the ethical issue presented, and consider how legal and ethical perspectives compare and contrast to one's Christian morality and perspectives of integrity. Ideas for papers are endless, but it is strongly encouraged that students get instructor feedback on your topic before you begin actively writing on the topic.

Course/Classroom Policies and Information

LATE WORK - All assignments are expected on or before the deadline indicated in the syllabus. If unforeseen, extenuating circumstances arrives, students should contact me as soon as possible to discuss the potential impact of the situation. In general, late assignments will not be accepted without prior approval from the instructor, and then may incur a penalty depending on the circumstances. It is strongly encouraged that students not wait until the just before a due date to submit assignments or complete tests through Canvas. IT issues may jeopardize your ability to complete the assignment by the due date, and extensions for technical issues are typically not granted unless the problem is extensive and affects class wide availability. Waiting to submit an assignment until just before class begins and then experiencing IT issues DOES NOT automatically guarantee your assignment will be accepted. Late work not given prior approval to be submitted after the due date will be given a grade of 0.

ASSIGNMENT SUBMISSIONS – All assigned work and quizzes must be completed through Canvas and be submitted prior to beginning of class time (do not email written assignments. Upload your .docx files through Canvas). Assignments not submitted by the start of class, may not be accepted for grading. It is strongly encouraged that students not wait until the last minute to submit graded work. It is the instructor's preference that students submit all work in .docx format for uniformity of submission. It is required that students submit all work consistent with APA formatting as it is considered a standard presentation format within the field. However, APA formatting is not a graded requirement on the shorter ethics papers. It is a graded element on the longer research paper and lack of attention to this component will likely cost students a letter grade on the assignment.

Papers must be based in current theoretical knowledge and research and as such should incorporate a minimum of 10 current professional references. References are expected to incorporate current professional research articles and/or texts from the field, published within the last 10 years and may include the assigned textbook for this course . Websites, public domain information, or popular literature are not considered professional publications and are not to be utilized as references. Papers should be 8-10 pages in written length (written length is the body of the paper) and should evidence historical theoretical foundational knowledge, current research within the field, as well as compare/contrast secular and Christian worldview perspectives regarding the topic chosen. Papers are required to be submitted in .docx through the Canvas link so that they can be screened for plagiarism through Canvas' tools. APA formatting is required and will be a graded component of this assignment. Questions regarding APA formatting can be directed to Dr. Burgess during office hours or assistance sought from the writing lab. Minor problems with citations or quotations will be met with loss of points; however, egregious plagiarism of quotations or paraphrasing without appropriate citations to give credit to the original author(s) may incur significant loss of points up to and including receiving a 0 on this assignment. Any idea or phrase used from a source must be cited. If it is not originating from the student themselves (HINT – all information comes from some place) it must be supported with a citation as to the origination of the idea. Paraphrased information must still be cited. Students are encouraged to seek help from the writing lab if they are unclear on how to appropriately cite quoted or paraphrased information.

Extra credit work is not permitted. Students are expected to plan and execute assigned work sufficiently throughout the semester to earn the grade they wish from the course. Students are welcome to seek tutoring or additional help from Dr. Burgess during office hours at any point during the semester (appointments are recommended). If students are not scoring well on quizzes or written work, Dr. Burgess is very accessible to discuss ways in which the student may improve scores on future work.

COMMUNICATION WITH DR. BURGESS - My goal is to respond to email within 24 hours during the week and within 48 hours on the weekend. Should you have a pressing question or more immediate issue, you are welcome to text me, but recognize it may still take some time for me to respond to questions asked. As such, students are strongly encouraged to begin assigned tasks well before the due date so as not to jeopardize completion of an assignment on time because of technology problems or other complications. I strive to have all papers graded within 5 days of the due date for a written assignment. This allows for expedient feedback which students can integrate into future assignments. If texting, students are asked to be respectful of the time of day. Due to the potential for emergencies with active therapy clients, my cell phone is on audible throughout the night. Please make every effort to only text me during reasonable time periods during the day. Students are also encouraged to schedule an appointment during my office hours to discuss questions, concerns, or guidance they may need. Voicemails left on my official campus voicemail will be checked during office hours only. If your issue is pressing and cannot wait, texting or emailing is likely going to get you a quicker response.

Class Attendance

Students are responsible for enrolling in courses for which they anticipate being able to attend every class session on the day and time appearing on course schedules, and then making every effort to do so. When unavoidable situations result in absence or tardiness, students are responsible for acquiring any information missed. Instructors are not obliged to allow students to make up missed work. Per their independent discretion, individual instructors may determine how attendance affects students' ability to meet course learning objectives and whether attendance affects course grades.

Campus Closure

To ensure the health and safety of students and employees, college administrators may decide it is necessary on rare occasions to close the campus. Once this decision is announced, instructors will contact students to provide further details regarding the campus closure's impact on those courses. Students are responsible to watch for communication from their instructors and respond appropriately. (Unless otherwise specified by the instructor in this syllabus, this communication will be sent to the student's Criswell College e-mail account.)

In order to make progress toward the courses' objectives, instructors have the freedom during most campus closures to require students to participate in activities as alternatives to meeting on campus. An instructor may, for example, hold class remotely (through Zoom) at the scheduled time, provide a recording of a class or presentation for students to watch independently, or assign other activities that students are to accomplish before returning to campus. Students are responsible for accomplishing these alternative activities as well as any course requirements listed in this syllabus during the period of the campus closure. If, during the period of the campus closure, personal circumstances prohibit a student from accomplishing these alternative activities or course requirements and assignment listed in the syllabus during the campus closure, the student is responsible for communicating with the instructor as soon as possible. Instructors will not penalize students who do not have the means to accomplish the alternative activities during the period of the campus's closure and will work with students whose circumstances during the campus closure prohibited their timely completion of course requirements and assignments in the syllabus.

Assignment Weights

Each assignment group will be averaged and weighted for the computation of the final grades as follows:

Exams 30%

Weekly Ethical Discussions 10%

Ethical Discussion Papers 30%

Research Paper 30%

Incomplete Grades

Students requesting a grade of Incomplete (I) must understand that incomplete grades may be given only upon approval of the faculty member involved. An "I" may be assigned only when a student is currently passing a course and in situations involving extended illness, serious injury, death in the family, or employment or government reassignment, not student neglect.

Students are responsible for contacting their instructors prior to the end of the semester, plus filing the appropriate completed and approved academic request form with the Registrar's Office. The "I" must be removed (by completing the remaining course requirements) no later than 60 calendar days after the close of the term or semester in which the grade was awarded, or the "I" will become an "F."

Academic Honesty

Absolute truth is an essential belief and basis of behavior for those who believe in a God who cannot lie and forbids falsehood. Academic honesty is the application of the principle of truth in the classroom setting. Academic honesty includes the basic premise that all work submitted by students must be their own and any ideas derived or copied from elsewhere must be carefully documented.

Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to:

- cheating of any kind,
- submitting, without proper approval, work originally prepared by the student for another course,
- plagiarism, which is the submitting of work prepared by someone else as if it were his own, and
- failing to credit sources properly in written work.

Institutional Assessment

Material submitted by students in this course may be used for assessment of the college's academic programs. Since programmatic and institutional assessment is done without reference to specific students, the results of these assessments have no effect on a student's course grade or academic standing at the college. Before submitting a student's work for this type of assessment, the course instructor redacts the work to remove anything that identifies the student.

Institutional Email Policy

All official college email communications to students enrolled in this course will be sent exclusively to students' institutional email accounts. Students are expected to check their student email accounts regularly and to respond in an appropriate and timely manner to all communications from faculty and administrative departments.

Students are permitted to setup automatic forwarding of emails from their student email accounts to one or more personal email accounts. The student is responsible to setup and maintain email forwarding without assistance from college staff. If a student chooses to use this forwarding option, he/she will continue to be responsible for responding appropriately to all communications from faculty and administrative departments of the college. Criswell College bears no responsibility for the use of emails that have been forwarded from student email accounts to other email accounts.

Disabilities

Criswell College recognizes and supports the standards set forth in Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, and similar state laws, which are designed to eliminate discrimination against qualified individuals with disabilities. Criswell College is committed to making reasonable accommodations for qualifying students, faculty, and employees with disabilities as required by applicable laws. For more information, please contact the Student Services Office.

Intellectual Property Rights

Unless otherwise specifically instructed in writing by the instructor, students must neither materially nor digitally reproduce materials from any course offered by Criswell College for or with the significant possibility of distribution.
