Course Description and Prerequisites

A study of the books of Genesis through Esther, with an emphasis on the interpretive problems of the Pentateuch and the tracing of God's providential dealings with his people Israel from the time of the patriarchs to Israel's return after the Babylonian exile.

Course Objectives

Upon completion of the course you should be able to:

- A. Locate on a timeline the OT books and the major OT events and characters;
- B. Locate the major regions, topographical features, countries, bodies of water, and cities on maps of Israel and the ancient Near East;
- C. Identify and describe prominent biblical characters and events;
- D. Describe the occasion (background and purpose), theme, genres, and structure of each book;
- E. Explain how each book fits into the historical context of its location on the OT timeline and in the history of redemption (this class considers Luke 24:27, 44-45; John 5:39 fundamental to understanding the OT)
- F. Identify and describe the basic interpretative and critical issues, including composition and date, in the books; and
- G. Apply biblical principles from the OT to contemporary situations.

Required Textbooks

- A. The Holy Bible. Yes, bring a Bible to class! Bring a version of your choice.

- B. Hill, Andrew E., and John H. Walton. A Survey of the Old Testament. 3d ed. Grand Rapids: Zondervan, 2009. (ISBN 9780310280958)

Required Viewing (some of this is required, but it is in the library, you need not purchase this)

Hill, Andrew E., and John H. Walton. Survey of the Old Testament Video Lectures: A Complete Course for the Beginner. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2016. (ASIN: 310525373)

Course Requirements and Assignments

- A. 3 exams. The exams come from the lectures and notes (not the textbook) and are in multiple-choice, true-false, and matching format. You have access to the tests on Canvas through your student portal. Tests are late after 12:00 midnight at the end of the due date. You are permitted 60 minutes for each one. Late assignments lose 5 points per day for one week for 7 days (including weekends), after which a grade of zero is given. They are not open-book exams:
1. Canon, geography, history, Genesis
 2. Exodus through Judges
 3. Ruth through Esther
- B. Quizzes. There are eleven open-book quizzes with ten or eleven multiple-choice and true-false questions, based on the reading from the textbook by Hill and Walton. The lowest quiz score will be dropped when calculating your average score. The quizzes will be taken on your student portal on Canvas, are limited to 10 minutes length from the time you open them, and are due by 12:00 midnight at the end of the scheduled date. Late assignments lose 5 points per day for one week for 7 days (including weekends), after which a grade of zero is given. See the Tentative Schedule of Events for due dates and which textbook chapters are on each quiz.
- C. Bible Reading. Read Genesis through Esther in a version of your choice and report the reading on the Bible Reading Log Sheet distributed in class and available on Canvas. If undistracted this reading takes approximately 25 hours. Approximately four chapters make one percent of the assignment. You may read this in a language other than English.
- D. Reading Hill and Walton. Read pages 21-369 and report the reading on the Textbook Reading Log Sheet distributed in class and available on Canvas.
- E. Listening to Hill and Walton. Watch 10 of the first 19 lectures in the video series A Survey of the Old Testament: Video Lectures and write one paragraph about what you learned from each of the 10. The paragraph must be at least 100 words.
- F. Old Testament Applications. Write 100 practical applications from the books Genesis through Esther. Here are considerations to observe:

- Take the theological difference between the Mosaic Covenant and the New Covenant into account. For example, we don't make sacrificial offerings on an altar under the New Covenant and it's okay to work on Saturday. So, look for the principle behind the law. The principle of the whole burnt offering is commitment to the Lord—how might that apply? One idea of the Sabbath was to be a day of rest for the children and servants (if a family had them), and even animals. An application could be to be sure not to deprive others of rest when we take it easy.
- Realize most content of these books is history, therefore descriptive rather than prescriptive. E.g., Samson's going to a prostitute or Judah's physical relations with Tamar are not something we should imitate. We are not expected to cross the Jordan River (though, if you find yourself in the river, it would be wise to get to land) or construct walls at Jerusalem. In cases like these two, we again look for the principle lying behind the historical command or action. E.g., move ahead to where God calls us to go even when it looks formidable, reconstruct something that has deteriorated if it furthers the testimony of the Lord or helps God's people.
- Make at least five applications from each book but no more than ten. Write only 100 applications. The average will be six per book.
- Each application must be in just one sentence. No sentence should be longer than 35 words. The ideal sentence is supposedly 25-35 words. Many applications will probably be less than 25 words.
- Proper grammar, syntax, spelling, and punctuation is expected.

Late assignments lose 5 points per day for one week for 7 days (including weekends), after which a grade of zero is given.

Class Attendance

Students are responsible for enrolling in courses for which they anticipate being able to attend every class session on the day and time appearing on course schedules, and then making every effort to do so. When unavoidable situations result in absence or tardiness, students are responsible for acquiring any information missed. Instructors are not obliged to allow students to make up missed work. Per their independent discretion, individual instructors may determine how attendance affects students' ability to meet course learning objectives and whether attendance affects course grades.

Campus Closure

To ensure the health and safety of students and employees, college administrators may decide it is necessary on rare occasions to close the campus. Once this decision is announced, instructors will contact students to provide further details regarding the campus closure's impact on those courses. Students are responsible to watch for communication from their instructors and respond appropriately. (Unless otherwise specified by the instructor in this syllabus, this communication will be sent to the student's Criswell College e-mail account.)

In order to make progress toward the courses' objectives, instructors have the freedom during most campus closures to require students to participate in activities as alternatives to meeting on campus. An instructor may, for example, hold class remotely (through Zoom) at the scheduled time, provide a recording of a class or presentation for students to watch independently, or assign other activities that students are to accomplish before returning to campus. Students are responsible for accomplishing these alternative activities as well as any course requirements listed in this syllabus during the period of the campus closure. If, during the period of the campus closure, personal circumstances prohibit a student from accomplishing these alternative activities or course requirements and assignment listed in the syllabus during the campus closure, the student is responsible for communicating with the instructor as soon as possible. Instructors will not penalize students who do not have the means to accomplish the alternative activities during the period of the campus's closure and will work with students whose circumstances during the campus closure prohibited their timely completion of course requirements and assignments in the syllabus.

Incomplete Grades

Students requesting a grade of Incomplete (I) must understand that incomplete grades may be given only upon approval of the faculty member involved. An "I" may be assigned only when a student is currently passing a course and in situations involving extended illness, serious injury, death in the family, or employment or government reassignment, not student neglect.

Students are responsible for contacting their instructors prior to the end of the semester, plus filing the appropriate completed and approved academic request form with the Registrar's Office. The "I" must be removed (by completing the remaining course requirements) no later than 60 calendar days after the close of the term or semester in which the grade was awarded, or the "I" will become an "F."

Academic Honesty

Absolute truth is an essential belief and basis of behavior for those who believe in a God who cannot lie and forbids falsehood. Academic honesty is the application of the principle of truth in the classroom setting. Academic honesty includes the basic premise that all work submitted by students must be their own and any ideas derived or copied from elsewhere must be carefully documented.

Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to:

- cheating of any kind,
- submitting, without proper approval, work originally prepared by the student for another course,
- plagiarism, which is the submitting of work prepared by someone else as if it were his own, and
- failing to credit sources properly in written work.

Institutional Assessment

Material submitted by students in this course may be used for assessment of the college's academic programs. Since programmatic and institutional assessment is done without reference to specific students, the results of these assessments have no effect on a student's course grade or academic standing at the college. Before submitting a student's work for this type of assessment, the course instructor redacts the work to remove anything that identifies the student.

Institutional Email Policy

All official college email communications to students enrolled in this course will be sent exclusively to students' institutional email accounts. Students are expected to check their student email accounts regularly and to respond in an appropriate and timely manner to all communications from faculty and administrative departments.

Students are permitted to setup automatic forwarding of emails from their student email accounts to one or more personal email accounts. The student is responsible to setup and maintain email forwarding without assistance from college staff. If a student chooses to use this forwarding option, he/she will continue to be responsible for responding appropriately to all communications from faculty and administrative departments of the college. Criswell College bears no responsibility for the use of emails that have been forwarded from student email accounts to other email accounts.

Disabilities

Criswell College recognizes and supports the standards set forth in Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, and similar state laws, which are designed to eliminate discrimination against qualified individuals with disabilities. Criswell College is committed to making reasonable accommodations for qualifying students, faculty, and employees with disabilities as required by applicable laws. For more information, please contact the Student Services Office.

Intellectual Property Rights

Unless otherwise specifically instructed in writing by the instructor, students must neither materially nor digitally reproduce materials from any course offered by Criswell College for or with the significant possibility of distribution.
