Course Description and Prerequisites

An intensive study of Romans in the English Bible. (Prerequisite: NTS 101; Prerequisite may be taken concurrently: NTS 201)

Course Objectives

At the end of the course, the student should be able to:

1. Summarize the contents, themes, and central ideas of Romans.
2. Improve his or her abilities to study the Bible synthetically, analytically, and topically.
3. Recognize the value of technical and expository commentaries.
4. Apply the contents of Romans to his or her life.

Required Textbooks

1. McKnight, Scot. Reading Romans Backwards: A Gospel of Peace in the Midst of Empire. Waco, TX: Baylor, 2019. (ISBN: 978-1-4813-0878-6)
2. Stott, John R. The Message of Romans: God's Good News for the World. The Bible Speaks Today Series. Downers Grove, IL: IVP Academic, 1994. (ISBN: 978-0830812462)

Recommended Reading

It would probably be beneficial to students if they owned at least one technical (as opposed to devotional or purely expository) commentary of Romans. I will talk about this a little on the first day of class. This is not a requirement, but I would recommend one of the following two commentaries.

If the student is not proficient in Greek:

Thielman, Frank. Romans. Zondervan Exegetical Commentary on the New Testament. Grand Rapids: Zondervan, 2018. (ISBN: 978-0-310-10403-2)

If the student is proficient in Greek and wants to explore the nuances of how the original wording affects the argument of the letter:

Longenecker, Richard N. The Epistle to the Romans. The New International Greek Testament Commentary. Grand Rapids: Eerdmans, 2016. (ISBN: 978-0-8028-2448-6)

Course Requirements and Assignments

1. Stott Reading (20%): Students will have weekly reading from The Message of Romans by John Stott. Reading will be reported on Canvas. Students may drop one week's worth of reading during the semester.
2. McKnight Reading (15%): Students are required to read Reading Romans Backwards by Scot McKnight and to write a 2-page single-spaced book report. The first page should summarize the contents of the book, and the second page should explain how the book has affected their understanding of Romans. The report is due by May 9.
3. Research Paper (30%): Students will write a 7-8 page research paper. A list of pre-approved topics will be provided on Canvas. Students may ask the professor for approval for any topic not listed. Students must inform the professor of their topics by February 26. Papers must interact with at least four technical sources. A student may turn in his or her paper anytime up to April 22 for evaluation and grading with the chance to resubmit if he or she wants. Final submissions are due by May 9.
4. Book Chart (20%): Students will create a 1-page book chart for Romans. Additional instructions and a template will be provided on Canvas. The book chart will be due April 29.
5. Oral Exam (15%): Each student will schedule a 30-minute Zoom meeting with the professor between April 30 and May 9. The student will be required to give a synthetic overview of the argument of Romans and to answer clarification questions at the professor's discretion. This will count as the final exam for the class.

Course/Classroom Policies and Information

Class Attendance

Students are responsible for enrolling in courses for which they (1) anticipate being able to attend every on-campus class session on the day and time appearing on course schedules, or (2) participating in academically related activities as identified in online-course schedules including synchronous class sessions conducted remotely by video, and then making every effort to do so. When unavoidable situations result in absence or tardiness, students are responsible for acquiring any missed information. Professors are not obliged to allow students to make up missed work. Per their independent discretion, individual professors may determine how attendance affects students' ability to meet course learning objectives and whether attendance affects course grades. If a student misses more than 2 class periods in the semester, the professor may change the student's final grade at his discretion based on the amount of time missed.

Students receiving grants, loans, or scholarships must meet specified requirements of various departments at the college and should consult relevant sections of the Academic Catalog. To ensure such funds will not be forfeited, students are responsible for contacting the proper departments to ascertain any specific course participation requirements and consequences of not meeting such requirements. Students receiving grants, loans, or scholarships should consult the Financial Aid office.

While Criswell College is a non-attendance taking institution, it nevertheless must demonstrate that students begin their courses in order to comply with Federal Aid regulations. Accordingly, students must participate in academically related activities during census periods. Failure to meet this requirement will result in students being administratively dropped from courses.

Academically related activity is defined as any course-related activity that may be used as evidence of attendance. Examples include:

- physical presence in a classroom during a class session with the instructor present,
- participation in a synchronous remote video class session with the instructor present,
- submission of an academic assignment, quiz, or exam,
- participation in an interactive tutorial or computer-assisted instruction,
- participation in a study group or discussion board that is assigned by the instructor,
- documentation showing that the student and a faculty member corresponded about the academic subject of the course.

NOTE: Logging into a Canvas course alone and logging into a Synchronous Online class session without active participation or with the camera off are not considered attendance.

NOTE: A census period begins on the first day of a semester/term and runs through the end of the last day to drop courses. During the census period, attendance data is collected in order to demonstrate compliance with Federal Aid regulations. There is no census period for winter terms since there is no last day to drop courses.

Campus Closure

To ensure the health and safety of students and employees, college administrators may decide it is necessary on rare occasions to close the campus. Once this decision is announced, instructors will contact students to provide further details regarding the campus closure's impact on those courses. Students are responsible to watch for communication from their instructors and respond appropriately. (Unless otherwise specified by the instructor in this syllabus, this communication will be sent to the student's Criswell College e-mail account.)

In order to make progress toward the courses' objectives, instructors have the freedom during most campus closures to require students to participate in activities as alternatives to meeting on campus. An instructor may, for example, hold class remotely (through Zoom) at the scheduled time, provide a recording of a class or presentation for students to watch independently, or assign other activities that students are to accomplish before returning to campus. Students are responsible for accomplishing these alternative activities as well as any course requirements listed in this syllabus during the period of the campus closure. If, during the period of the campus closure, personal circumstances prohibit a student from accomplishing these alternative activities or course requirements and assignment listed in the syllabus during the campus closure, the student is responsible for communicating with the instructor as soon as possible. Instructors will not penalize students who do not have the means to accomplish the alternative activities during the period of the campus's closure and will work with students whose circumstances during the campus closure prohibited their timely completion of course requirements and assignments in the syllabus.

Incomplete Grades

Students requesting a grade of Incomplete (I) must understand that incomplete grades may be given only upon approval of the faculty member involved. An "I" may be assigned only when a student is currently passing a course and in situations involving extended illness, serious injury, death in the family, or employment or government reassignment, not student neglect.

Students are responsible for contacting their instructors prior to the end of the semester, plus filing the appropriate completed and approved academic request form with the Registrar's Office. The "I" must be removed (by completing the remaining course requirements) no later than 60 calendar days after the close of the term or semester in which the grade was awarded, or the "I" will become an "F."

Academic Honesty

Absolute truth is an essential belief and basis of behavior for those who believe in a God who cannot lie and forbids falsehood. Academic honesty is the application of the principle of truth in the classroom setting. Academic honesty includes the basic premise that all work submitted by students must be their own and any ideas derived or copied from elsewhere must be carefully documented.

Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to:

- cheating of any kind,
- submitting, without proper approval, work originally prepared by the student for another course,

- plagiarism, which is the submitting of work prepared by someone else as if it were his own, and
- failing to credit sources properly in written work.

Institutional Assessment

Material submitted by students in this course may be used for assessment of the college's academic programs. Since programmatic and institutional assessment is done without reference to specific students, the results of these assessments have no effect on a student's course grade or academic standing at the college. Before submitting a student's work for this type of assessment, the course instructor redacts the work to remove anything that identifies the student.

Institutional Email Policy

All official college email communications to students enrolled in this course will be sent exclusively to students' institutional email accounts. Students are expected to check their student email accounts regularly and to respond in an appropriate and timely manner to all communications from faculty and administrative departments.

Students are permitted to setup automatic forwarding of emails from their student email accounts to one or more personal email accounts. The student is responsible to setup and maintain email forwarding without assistance from college staff. If a student chooses to use this forwarding option, he/she will continue to be responsible for responding appropriately to all communications from faculty and administrative departments of the college. Criswell College bears no responsibility for the use of emails that have been forwarded from student email accounts to other email accounts.

Disabilities

Criswell College recognizes and supports the standards set forth in Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, and similar state laws, which are designed to eliminate discrimination against qualified individuals with disabilities. Criswell College is committed to making reasonable accommodations for qualifying students, faculty, and employees with disabilities as required by applicable laws. For more information, please contact the Student Services Office.

Intellectual Property Rights

Unless otherwise specifically instructed in writing by the instructor, students must neither materially nor digitally reproduce materials from any course offered by Criswell College for or with the significant possibility of distribution.

Research and Writing Standards

The default writing style for written assignments in Criswell College Courses is the latest edition of A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses and Dissertations by Kate Turabian. However, instructors are free to require alternative writing styles in their courses. These styles include but are not limited to the American Psychological Association (APA), Chicago Manual of Style, Modern Language Association (MLA), and Society of Biblical Literature (SBL) writing guides.
