Course Description and Prerequisites

This course explores why and when international actors, specifically states, choose cooperation or conflict. The course explores this question of cooperation versus conflict from both historical and theoretical perspectives. The course teaches how states, international organizations, and non-governmental actors work within the international system to address human rights, environmental, economic, health and security issues.

Course Objectives

By the end of this course students will be able to:

1. Identify past, present, and future challenges and opportunities for countries and regions.
2. Explain how peace and cooperation can be achieved within and between countries.
3. Prescribe solutions to the challenges of global governance, accountability, and enforcement.
4. Develop a personal theory of when, how, and why states should interfere in the affairs of other states.

Required Textbooks

World Politics: Interests, Interactions, Institutions. Jeffrey A. Frieden, David A. Lake, Kenneth A. Schultz. 9780393872231. 2022.

Additional readings and resources (videos, podcasts, etc.) will be assigned but do not need to be purchased.

Recommended Reading

- The World: A Brief Introduction. Richard Haass.
- Join the World Affairs Council of Dallas (this used to come with a Foreign Policy magazine subscription – not sure if that is still the case) (student discount)

- The Economist (student discount)
- The Wall Street Journal (student discount)
- Foreign Affairs Magazine (student discount)

Course Requirements and Assignments

- 40% - Weekly Reading Quizzes in Canvas
- 20% - Weekly Group Region Briefings (presented in class) – Each week, your region affairs group will report on what is happening in your region and recommend an appropriate response. If you are not present to present your weekly briefing you will receive a zero for that week (unless excused by the professor). Each member of the group must present a portion of the briefing. You must have one briefing in each of the following formats. The remaining briefings should be presented to the class, as if in a cabinet meeting.:
 - Written – Brief to the President of the United States (with recommendations)
 - Written – Brief to the UN Secretary General (with recommendations)
 - Podcast – Expert call-in show
 - Video – News foreign correspondent
 - Video – UN Spokesperson report with journalist questions
- Intervention / Non-intervention Paper – I assume you are taking this course because you care about the welfare of humans, around the world, created in God’s image. You will choose an issue, conflict, crisis, etc. and present a normative theory of intervention. (see Addendum 1 for assignment details)
 - 5% - Intervention / Non-intervention Paper Rough Draft
 - 20% - Intervention / Non-intervention Final Paper
- 15% - Final Exam

Course/Classroom Policies and Information

- The ideas expressed by readings, resources, and outside guests in this course should not be interpreted as implying the instructor’s or college’s endorsement. Course materials and outside speakers are selected for their perceived value in helping to meet the course goals and objectives.
- At all times and especially when we are working in and with the community you are expected to exhibit the college’s graduate profile:
 - Ambassadors who communicate effectively across various platforms and contexts.
 - Cultivators who seek to understand diverse populations and develop purposeful relationships.
 - Peacemakers who pursue truth and righteousness through mercy and reconciliation.
 - Problem-solvers who think critically, creatively, and collaboratively.
 - Professionals who demonstrate competence in their field of study and intentionality in their vocation.
- You may not have your cell phone anywhere in sight during class.
- You may not use your laptop during class for anything other than class-related activities..
- Instructors work closely with the Student Success Manager. To help provide resources to students who may need it most, I will communicate the names of students who have two consecutive absences, low grades, or any other signs that they may be struggling. The Student Success Manager will reach out to these students and help find appropriate resources.

- Class participation requires both attendance and preparation. If you miss classes, you will fall behind very quickly. If you read the chapter before class, our time together will make much more sense to you.
- The descriptions and timelines contained in this syllabus are subject to change at the discretion of the Professor.
- The following language is quoted from Criswell College’s Credit Hours policy: “For academic purposes, Criswell College uses “Carnegie” units to measure semester credit hours. A Carnegie unit of credit is awarded to students for the satisfactory completion of at least one 50-minute session of classroom or direct faculty instruction and at least 100 minutes of out-of-class work per week for not less than 15 weeks.”
 - This policy does not mean that attending class or doing work for a certain amount of time guarantees a certain grade or credit for the course.
 - This policy does mean that you must complete this many hours of work to qualify for course credit.
 - Therefore, one way that you might think of your time being divided up, per week, over the course of the semester, for a 3-credit course is the following:
 - 150 minutes of class instruction (two 75-minute course sessions per week).
 - 300+ minutes of out-of-class work. A possible allocation of this out-of-class time could be:
 - 180 minutes of reading
 - 120 minutes of homework
 - This means that each 3-hour course you register for requires a minimum of 7.5 hours of work per week.
 - If you are taking 12 hours this semester, you should think of your school commitment as a 30-hour per week job.
 - If you are taking 15 hours this semester, you should think of your school commitment as a 37.5-hour per week job.

Class Attendance

Students are responsible for enrolling in courses for which they (1) anticipate being able to attend every on-campus class session on the day and time appearing on course schedules, or (2) participating in academically related activities as identified in online-course schedules including synchronous class sessions conducted remotely by video, and then making every effort to do so. When unavoidable situations result in absence or tardiness, students are responsible for acquiring any missed information. Professors are not obliged to allow students to make up missed work. Per their independent discretion, individual professors may determine how attendance affects students’ ability to meet course learning objectives and whether attendance affects course grades. Professors apprise students of such information in course syllabi.

Students receiving grants, loans, or scholarships must meet specified requirements of various departments at the college and should consult relevant sections of the Academic Catalog. To ensure such funds will not be forfeited, students are responsible for contacting the proper departments to ascertain any specific course participation requirements and consequences of not meeting such requirements. Students receiving grants, loans, or scholarships should consult the Financial Aid office.

While Criswell College is a non-attendance taking institution, it nevertheless must demonstrate that students begin their courses in order to comply with Federal Aid regulations. Accordingly, students must participate in academically related activities during census periods. Failure to meet this requirement will result in students being administratively dropped from courses.

Academically related activity is defined as any course-related activity that may be used as evidence of attendance. Examples include:

- physical presence in a classroom during a class session with the instructor present,
- participation in a synchronous remote video class session with the instructor present,
- submission of an academic assignment, quiz, or exam,
- participation in an interactive tutorial or computer-assisted instruction,
- participation in a study group or discussion board that is assigned by the instructor,
- documentation showing that the student and a faculty member corresponded about the academic subject of the course.

NOTE: Logging into a Canvas course alone and logging into a Synchronous Online class session without active participation or with the camera off are not considered attendance.

NOTE: A census period begins on the first day of a semester/term and runs through the end of the last day to drop courses. During the census period, attendance data is collected in order to demonstrate compliance with Federal Aid regulations. There is no census period for winter terms since there is no last day to drop courses.

Campus Closure

To ensure the health and safety of students and employees, college administrators may decide it is necessary on rare occasions to close the campus. Once this decision is announced, instructors will contact students to provide further details regarding the campus closure's impact on those courses. Students are responsible to watch for communication from their instructors and respond appropriately. (Unless otherwise specified by the instructor in this syllabus, this communication will be sent to the student's Criswell College e-mail account.)

In order to make progress toward the courses' objectives, instructors have the freedom during most campus closures to require students to participate in activities as alternatives to meeting on campus. An instructor may, for example, hold class remotely (through Zoom) at the scheduled time, provide a recording of a class or presentation for students to watch independently, or assign other activities that students are to accomplish before returning to campus. Students are responsible for accomplishing these alternative activities as well as any course requirements listed in this syllabus during the period of the campus closure. If, during the period of the campus closure, personal circumstances prohibit a student from accomplishing these alternative activities or course requirements and assignment listed in the syllabus during the campus closure, the student is responsible for communicating with the instructor as soon as possible. Instructors will not penalize students who do not have the means to accomplish the alternative activities during the period of the campus's closure and will work with students whose circumstances during the campus closure prohibited their timely completion of course requirements and assignments in the syllabus.

Grading Scale

			Grade Definitions
A	93-100	4.0 grade points per semester hour	Exceptional
A-	90-92	3.7 grade points per semester hour
B+	87-89	3.3 grade points per semester hour
B	83-86	3.0 grade points per semester hour	Above Average
B-	80-82	2.7 grade points per semester hour
C+	77-79	2.3 grade points per semester hour
C	73-76	2.0 grade points per semester hour	Average
C-	70-72	1.7 grade points per semester hour
D+	67-69	1.3 grade points per semester hour
D	63-66	1.0 grade point per semester hour	Below Average
D-	60-62	0.7 grade points per semester hour
F	0-59	0.0 grade points per semester hour	Unacceptable

Incomplete Grades

Students requesting a grade of Incomplete (I) must understand that incomplete grades may be given only upon approval of the faculty member involved. An "I" may be assigned only when a student is currently passing a course and in situations involving extended illness, serious injury, death in the family, or employment or government reassignment, not student neglect.

Students are responsible for contacting their instructors prior to the end of the semester, plus filing the appropriate completed and approved academic request form with the Registrar's Office. The "I" must be removed (by completing the remaining course requirements) no later than 60 calendar days after the close of the term or semester in which the grade was awarded, or the "I" will become an "F."

Academic Honesty

Absolute truth is an essential belief and basis of behavior for those who believe in a God who cannot lie and forbids falsehood. Academic honesty is the application of the principle of truth in the classroom setting. Academic honesty includes the basic premise that all work submitted by students must be their own and any ideas derived or copied from elsewhere must be carefully documented.

Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to:

- cheating of any kind,
- submitting, without proper approval, work originally prepared by the student for another course,
- plagiarism, which is the submitting of work prepared by someone else as if it were his own, and

- failing to credit sources properly in written work.

Institutional Assessment

Material submitted by students in this course may be used for assessment of the college's academic programs. Since programmatic and institutional assessment is done without reference to specific students, the results of these assessments have no effect on a student's course grade or academic standing at the college. Before submitting a student's work for this type of assessment, the course instructor redacts the work to remove anything that identifies the student.

Institutional Email Policy

All official college email communications to students enrolled in this course will be sent exclusively to students' institutional email accounts. Students are expected to check their student email accounts regularly and to respond in an appropriate and timely manner to all communications from faculty and administrative departments.

Students are permitted to setup automatic forwarding of emails from their student email accounts to one or more personal email accounts. The student is responsible to setup and maintain email forwarding without assistance from college staff. If a student chooses to use this forwarding option, he/she will continue to be responsible for responding appropriately to all communications from faculty and administrative departments of the college. Criswell College bears no responsibility for the use of emails that have been forwarded from student email accounts to other email accounts.

Disabilities

Criswell College recognizes and supports the standards set forth in Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, and similar state laws, which are designed to eliminate discrimination against qualified individuals with disabilities. Criswell College is committed to making reasonable accommodations for qualifying students, faculty, and employees with disabilities as required by applicable laws. For more information, please contact the Student Services Office.

Intellectual Property Rights

Unless otherwise specifically instructed in writing by the instructor, students must neither materially nor digitally reproduce materials from any course offered by Criswell College for or with the significant possibility of distribution.

Research and Writing Standards

The default writing style for written assignments in Criswell College Courses is the latest edition of A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses and Dissertations by Kate Turabian. However, instructors are free to require alternative writing styles in their courses. These styles include but are not limited to the American Psychological Association (APA), Chicago Manual of Style, Modern Language Association (MLA), and Society of Biblical Literature (SBL) writing guides.

Resources and Supports

Canvas and SONIS: Criswell College uses Canvas as its web-based learning tool and SONIS for student data. Students needing assistance with Canvas should contact the Canvas Help Support line at (844) 358-6140. Tech support is available at this number, twenty-four hours a day. Students needing help with SONIS should contact the Campus Software Manager at studenttechsupport@criswell.edu.

Student Services: The Student Services Office exists to foster and encourage success in all areas of life—physical, intellectual, spiritual, social, and emotional. Students are encouraged to reach out for assistance by contacting the office at 214.818.1332 or studentservices@criswell.edu. The Student Services Office also works with local counseling centers to ensure that every student has access to helpful mental health resources. More information is located on the college website at Criswell College Mental Health Resources, and students may contact the Director of Student Services if they have any questions.

Wallace Library: Students can access academic resources and obtain research assistance by contacting or visiting the Wallace Library, which is located on campus. For more information, email the Wallace Library at library@criswell.edu. Login credentials are emailed to students near the beginning of the semester.

Tutoring Center: Students are encouraged to consult with tutors to improve and enhance their skills and confidence. Tutors have been recommended by the faculty to ensure that the tutor(s) are qualified to serve the student body. Every tutor brings experience and expertise in an effort to provide the proper resources for the subject matter at hand. To consult with a tutor, students can schedule an appointment through Calendly (<https://calendly.com/criswell-tutoringcenter>) or by visiting the Tutoring Center located on the second floor in room E203. For questions, call 214.818.1373 or email at tutoringcenter@criswell.edu.

Addendum 1

Sovereignty / Intervention / Non-Intervention Paper

Your paper should use the following structure:

1. Introduce to your own normative theory of intervention and nonintervention. Your theory should be informed by both Christian ethics and the positive theories of international relations that you learned in this course.
2. Introduce two case studies that you believe exemplify the value of your theory.
3. Analyze how these cases exemplify the value and logic of your theory. Where do they defy the logic of your theory?
4. Explain how these cases could turn out better or worse depending on whether your theory was followed as guidance for when and how to intervene.
5. Utilize 3-4 scholarly, peer-reviewed, sources.

Paper guidelines:

- Double spaced – no extra space between paragraphs
 - 12 pt Times New Roman Font
 - 1 inch margins
 - 2000-2500 words. This does not include reference pages or cover sheet.
 - Assignment must be submitted electronically, via Canvas as a .pdf document. The file name must follow the format “LastName_AssignmentName”. In the header, include your full name and assignment name. Assignments uploaded with the wrong file name or in the wrong file type will be penalized 10 points.
 - Late assignments will be penalized 10 points per day
- Paper should be in Chicago or Turabian style including a bibliography.
